Parking Made Simpler in the South Norwalk Haviland Lot

New Height Restrictions and Loading Zones for Delivery Trucks

Norwalk, CT (July 15, 2010) The Norwalk Parking Authority recently announced plans to install a height restriction bar in South Norwalk's Haviland parking lot on the upper deck.

The 7 foot bar will alleviate the ongoing issue of delivery trucks blocking cars from entering and exiting the lot. Delivery vehicles taller than 7 feet are invited to use two new loading zones on Haviland Street.

“The new height restriction bar in the Haviland lot will keep traffic flowing to and from the lot,” says John Federici, Chairman of the Norwalk Parking Authority. “Our goal is to make parking in Norwalk easier, and the new bar will accomplish that. Business owners and the public will benefit from the new ease in parking.”

The height restriction bar will also serve as a decorative sign welcoming parkers to Norwalk. Additionally, damage to the parking deck from deliveries will be minimized.

Construction of the height restriction bar will be completed in mid August 2010.
